The diagram illustrates a xylophone activity. It consists of three rows of five boxes each. The top row shows five boxes with different rhythmic patterns: a high note followed by a lower note, a single high note, a low note followed by a high note, a high note followed by a low note, and a low note followed by a high note. The middle row has the first box with a low note and the others empty. The bottom row is completely empty. Arrows indicate the flow from the top row to the middle row, and from the middle row to the bottom row.
